SOCIAL STANDARDS ARE HIGH IN RURAL UTAH

Utah is a very clean state, morally and physically, as far as the students are any sign, according to the report made by Dr. Heber J. Sears of the University of Utah, school of medicine to the government. He declares that due to the large number of students coming from the country where the moral standards are very high, practically no cases of social diseases are ever found among the enrollment of the state school. The University has a well developed department of preventive medicine and social hygiene to keep track of the health conditions of the students and due to the success of the work, both with the students and in the state generally, the government is giving the institution an appropriation for the carrying out of the preventive work.
